DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the bottom of the groove is flat, the oval periphery of the plate, the rounded corners rectangular periphery of the plate and an insulator must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 27, the term “substantially” is a relative term.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Art Unit: 2832

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1, 3-9, 16-17 and 24-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hirose et al. [US 4,641,118].

Hirose et al. discloses an electric coil/winding [figure 5] comprising:

- a plurality of electric insulating plates [10s-10v], each of which including a hole bored [11s-11v] disposed in the middle thereof;

- an electric spiral conductor [12s-12v] disposed on at least one side of one of the plurality of electric insulating plates; and

- notches/openings [12as-12bs-12av-12bv] disposed at outer and inner points of the spiral conductors.

wherein the spiral conductors having identical gyration and wound in opposite directions, Regarding claim 17, Hirose et al. disclosed supporting means [32, 32a] supporting the electric winding.

Regarding claims 24-26, Hirose et al. further discloses a current formed in the conductors create a magnetic field in each plate with the magnetic fields being additive.

6. Claims 1-2, 23 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kadowaki et al. [JP 56-98805].

Art Unit: 2832

Kadowaki et al. discloses an electric coil [figures 3-6] comprising:

- a plurality of electric insulating plate [10], each of which having a spiral groove/dent [11] and a central bore hole [15]; and

- a spiral conductor [9] disposed in the groove of the insulating plate.

wherein the spiral conductors wound in opposite direction.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 10-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kadowaki et al.

Kadowaki et al. discloses the instant claimed invention except for the specific shape of the conductor, the specific shape of the groove bottom and the specific shape of the electric insulating plate.

The specific shape of the conductor, the groove bottom and the electric insulating plate would have been an obvious design consideration based on the intended application used.

9. Claims 18-19 and 21-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kadowaki et al. in view of Pan et al. [US 5,847,947].

Art Unit: 2832

Kadowaki et al. discloses the instant claimed invention except for the specific insulating structure between the plate and the winding being enclosed in a container filled with insulating fluid.

Pan et al. discloses a stacked/laminated coil/winding structure having insulating layer between the coil/winding layers, wherein the coil/winding structure being enclosed in a tank filled with insulating oil.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to disposed insulator between the plate and disposed the winding structure in an insulating fluid filled container, as suggested by Pan et al., for the purpose of providing better insulation and cooling for the winding structure.
